

CAMERON AVENUE CHURCH OF CHRIST

In 1905 Joseph J. Clutton gave this communion pitcher to the Cameron Avenue Church of Christ in Detroit. In 1928, the white Cameron Avenue congregation merged with the West Side Central Church of Christ, allowing the major black congregation to have the old building. The new group continued to use the same name.

This pitcher was donated to the church history collection of Michigan Christian College by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rucker. Mr. Rucker's mother was Florence Shand, who once was a member of the old Cameron Avenue Church of Christ.
