America's Cavalcade Through the Years from 1936-1940

In Honor of Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of these United States

"Reviewing in retrospect a series of bitter hard fought years it is altogether proper that we, the citizens of the United States clearly ascertain our position as we face another term of four great years under the leadership of our dear President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

The most horrible and devastating enemies of mankind; hunger, pauperism, and loss of confidence and self-respect, have fallen under the quiet onslaught of a determined people and a gallant leader.

Today, standing as we are on the threshold of a new year, a new future, a new deal, let us take cognizance of our solidarity of opinion, of our uniform organization for accomplishment, and further endeavor to embrace our individual confidence in the future by a spirit of utmost cooperation with the guiding powers of our destiny.

The American Government today represents to us, a permanent cure for all ills. The spirit embodied is one of national welfare, devoid of personal natures, and accordingly, constitutes a program designed to serve all the people in the most efficient manner as befits their needs either temporary or permanent.

Through ages of countless years the untiring efforts of a great people have made possible the basis for our future aims. East has met West for the accumulation and utilization of knowledge. Through this combined knowledge we have become a great and powerful nation and we have only begun our progress toward ultimate greatness.

The essence of Americanism is Progress. That is our heritage and with this thought we draw apart the curtains of a new future, rich in possibilities and teeming with the spirit of a new America!

Progress in Aviation!
Outlined by

COLONEL NAPOLEON M. N. SHALHOOB, JR.
(Federal Transport Pilot)

THE predictions made in 1934, have been completely fulfilled and new strides in advancement are forthcoming. Student and Commercial Fliers will enjoy the greatest safety factors in modernly designed planes and up-to-the-minute performances of ships has been more expedited than in years.

Faster ships are always in demand. The ship that is most needed will be in the medium class and lowest price bracket. These ships must possess economical advantages, stream-line designs and speed to fit the type of ship in the class.

I can remember when "Jenny's" and Rotaries were the up-to-the-minute ships. But today, they are detrimental to fliers and positively obsolete. In fact no ships of the above nature are flown today. The sooner we rid the Nation of obsolete models and types of airplanes, the quicker the road will be paved for "safer-and-surer-air-travels."

*To: Theodore D. Lane
The Incoming "Polkman"

More and more students are encouraged each year by the Department of Commerce, in more ways than one, to take advantage of the modern facilities in Aviation.

America; unquestionably, is the outstanding Nation and assuredly the most ideal Country in the World in which fliers may enjoy the pleasure of flying. The progress in Aviation will be noted in the following paragraph, entitled:

Licensed Pilots and Planes

An increase of 1000 licensed pilots and 403 licensed aircraft during the 12 months' period ending October 1, 1936, was shown in a recent report issued by the Bureau of Air Commerce. There were 15,763 licensed pilots and 7,747 licensed aircraft on October 1, 1936 as against 14,763 licensed pilots and 7,344 licensed aircraft on the same date in 1935.

The total number of aircraft licensed and unlicensed of which the Department had record on October 1, 1936, was 9,621, while this number on the corresponding day of last year was 9,139. Unlicensed aircraft (indentified) totaled 1,874 on the first of October 1936.

Among the 15,763 persons holding pilots' licenses as of October 1, 1936, were 7,416 transport, 881 limited commercial, 6,752 private and 714 amateur.

Of particular interest to all mayors of other chief executives, to local organizations as the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club, and the Kiwanis Club, and to all public spirited citizens, of all communities, is the program recently launched by the Bureau of Air Commerce of the U. S. Department of Commerce. This has as its object the construction of a roof air marker in every city, town and village in the United States not already so marked.

Efforts of the Department of Commerce heretofore have been to establish aids along scheduled air line routes; its purpose here is to aid the private flyer primarily. The first phase of this undertaking took the form of a national air marking program having as its objective the construction of a roof air marker every twenty miles in thickly settled areas and as close to that as practicable in sparsely settled county. Under the WPA program all States have adopted their projects and approved the construction of more than 16,000 markers, of which over 8,000 are now either completed or under construction.

This number, while large, is by no means adequate, however, for the reason that a flyer may well become lost or confused over a town not so marked. It is for this reason that the Bureau is embarking upon the present air marking program, representing the second phase of its efforts to further promote safety in private aviation.

Cooperation Necessary

WPA funds and labor not being available for this project, it is the Bureau's hope and belief that it will be carried out by means of the initiative and funds of private individuals or organizations, or local governments. To this end, the Bureau is appealing, through local newspapers, for nation-wide cooperation.

In its appeal for cooperation, the Bureau of Air Commerce gives the following brief description of the standard air marker, as constructed under the WPA program. It seems that the Bureau has conducted considerable research in determining the marker most suitable and effective, and strongly advises that a town adhere as closely as possible to these standards and suggestions in constructing its marker.

There is a wide choice in selecting the roof space to be utilized. The building may be located a mile or two outside the town, while practically any roof or series of roofs (even if 15 to 20 feet apart) may be used. However, the building should be a prominent one, and the roof as large and as nearly flat or horizontal as possible. In addition, the roof covering should be taken into account, certain types giving a longer life expectancy for the sign and requiring less paint than others. The usual types of covering in the order of their desirability are metal, composition shingle, wood shingle and bitumen.

Marker Specifications

The marker should spell out the name of the town, show an arrow pointing towards the magnetic north, and if there is an airport or landing field located in the town, show a circle with an arrow pointing in the direction of the field, together with the mileage to it. This circle should contain a letter "T" if the airport is a scheduled air transport stop, a letter "S" if the airport is equipped to give service, and nothing in all other cases. If the town does not have a landing field, the marker should omit the airport symbol but have an arrow indicating the direction to the neighboring airport best reached in inclement weather, as by following a valley, river or railway (which need not necessarily be the nearest airport), and show the mileage to such airport together with the name of the town in which it is located.

There are no absolute rules to be followed in arranging these characters, although, if a nearby airport is indicated, and the name of the town is contained within the directional arrow, such name should read from the butt end towards the point. In general, it is advisable also to indicate the magnetic north by a broken arrow with the letter "N" contained within the break, to show the mileage to the airport at the point of the arrow, and to have the name of the town reading towards the center of town.

Lettering and Colors

The lettering used for the marker should be of either the plain vertical Gothic or block capital type, with the size of the letters and figures dependent on the amount of roof space available, it being necessary to maintain certain proportions. This height should be at least seven feet, the width of the strokes of the letters at least  $1/7$  such height, and the spacing between letters not less than  $1/4$  such height. The colors used should be black for the border, which should outline each character to a width not less than  $1/2$  that of the letter stroke, and international orange or chrome yellow for the letters, figures and symbols.

The only equipment necessary for construction of such a marker is about five gallons of paint, paint brushes, chalk lines and chalk (for laying out the marker), a ladder, rope, map of the surrounding countryside (used to determine the direction of a nearby airport), and a pocket compass. If the sign is painted upon a bitumen surface, such as asphalt, composition, or tar roofing, one seal coat of aluminum paint should first be applied, but otherwise, the only paints necessary are chrome yellow or international orange (two coats) and black (either one or two coats). All of this equipment may be obtained for approximately $12.00.

It is highly desirable that air roof markers be uniform, and, for this reason the Bureau of Air Commerce advises that, if there is any question concerning the above standards or if any assistance is desired, the nearest WPA local office be consulted. Also, after constructing a marker such office should be so advised.

Dear Father Shalhoob:

May I take this occasion to congratulate you on the particularly fine work you are doing in publishing the "Pacific Syrian-American Guide." I am convinced that the vast wealth of material it contains must prove of untold value to those of Syrian extraction, as well as being very interesting to those of other nationalities.

During the past two years, in my work with the State Relief Administration and the Works Progress Administration, I have encountered many situations which might have been avoided had publications such as yours been available to the various nationalities involved.

I hope you will continue to be able to issue the "Guide" annually and assure you of my best wishes for your continued success.

DEDICATION:

The above and following information regarding the famous San Francisco-Oakland Bridge herewith scheduled and printed by the author-owner of Pacific Syrian American Guide—Rev. Father Methodios Shalhoob, Archmissionary, Western States.

The new streamline train "City of San Francisco," which is operated via the Southern Pacific between San Francisco and Chicago.

Interior of a modern chair car. Note the comfortable seats, the wide windows and the commodious smoking room. A ladies' rest room at the other end of the car is equally comfortable.

Latest Developments in Railroad Services

Traveling by train today is a vastly different experience from what it was even so short a time as two years ago. Improvement in railroad equipment and service has been so rapid that a train trip today is a revelation to one who has not traveled by rail in the past few years.

Trains are faster. On the Southern Pacific all transcontinental trains have been speeded up. A new streamlined train, the "City of San Francisco," now makes the run between San Francisco and Chicago in thirty-nine and three-quarter hours, or nineteen hours faster than previous schedules. Early in 1937 the famous "Daylight," which operates between San Francisco and Los Angeles, will be a streamlined train, with completely new and modern equipment, and with a faster schedule.

All through trains are now air-conditioned, which makes them "cool as a cucumber" in the hottest summer weather, and "warm as toast" in the winter. In addition, air-conditioning makes the air you breathe clean and pure. All dust, dirt and pollen are removed.

The cost of travel has been greatly reduced. Rail fares are now considerably lower than they were three years ago, and Pullman charges are one-third less. One advantage of train travel is that there are several prices for the same trip, depending on how you want to travel, so that you can travel as well or as economically as you desire, paying only for what you get. You can travel in a standard Pullman sleeper at one price, in a Tourist sleeper for less, and in a reclining chair car for still less.

Accommodations in a Tourist sleeping car, which cost only about half of ones in a Standard sleeper, have all the comforts of the higher-priced accommodations. The berths are the same size, the bedding is the same, and the same little refinements such as mirrors, coat hangers, and reading lights are provided. About the only difference is that Tourist sleepers do not have drawing rooms or compartments.

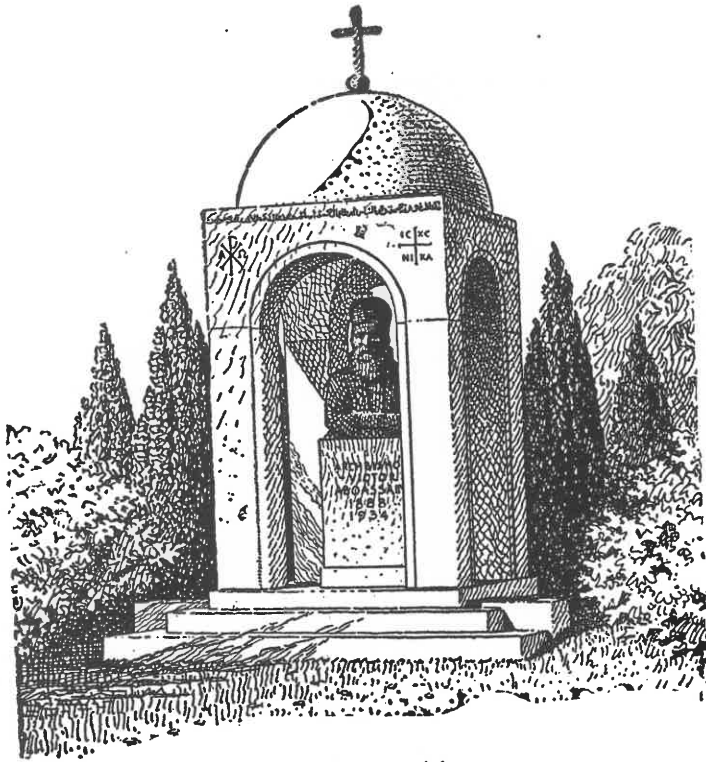

The new Southern Pacific chair cars have big, roomy seats, the backs of which may be lowered so that one can sleep in comfort. There are large smoking rooms for the men, with leather upholstered seats. The women's rest rooms are fitted with lounge seats and chairs, large mirrors, convenient shelves for toilet articles, and electric lights. Both rooms are fitted with porcelain wash basins with hot and cold water.

And meals on Southern Pacific trains were never cheaper than they are now. Complete breakfasts as low as 50c and luncheon or dinner beginning at 80c, served in spotless air-conditioned diners, are examples. Then, if you just want a snack, the off-the-tray service in the coaches and tourist sleeping cars provides such items as sandwiches, doughnuts, pie, coffee and milk at the same price you would pay in any restaurant at home.

With all these improvements, train travel is the most comfortable, economical and safe way. Of the millions of people carried in railroad trains in the year 1935, not a single passenger was killed.

San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge

The World's Largest Bridge for at Least a Thousand Years

THE San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge opened to traffic November 11-12 1936, the greatest bridge in the world for its cost, length, quantities of steel and concrete, weight, depth and number of piers, the bore of its island tunnel, and the versatility of its engineering. With the bridging of San Francisco Bay, the largest navigable body in the world where the traffic would justify so costly a bridge. The San Francisco bridge therefore stands as the largest bridge in the world for probably 1000 years.

Its total length of  $8\frac{1}{4}$  miles,  $4\frac{1}{2}$  miles of which are over water, its 52x65-foot bore tunnel through Yerba Buena Island; its 200,000 tons of steel and 1,000,000 cubic yards of concrete; its 1400-foot double deck and 25,400,000-pound cantilever span; and the Moran-Purcell caisson which has set a new engineering frontier in foundation building.

The bridge has two decks, each 66 feet wide, one above the other. The top deck has six lanes for automobiles and can carry 24,000,000 cars a year without congestion. The lower deck has 31 feet of roadway for three lanes of trucks and buses, of which 6,000,000 may cross annually without congestion. Along the south side of the lower deck two standard-gauge electric railway tracks with both third rail and trolley wires. The bridge carries 7000 pounds per lineal foot, and provides for 40-ton trucks and 70-ton interurban cars.

San Francisco Approaches

This high level bridge leaves ground at Fifth Street in San Francisco at an elevation of 11.7 feet above sea level. Yerba Buena tunnel, 172.5 feet; Yerba Buena Island, 218.9 feet; center of cantilever span, 234.6 feet; Pier E9, 166.1 feet; landing on sand fill at Toll Plaza, 13 feet.

Because the bridge enters San Francisco at a clearance of 175 feet over the street level, it requires nearly a mile to come down to ground level, its main entrance and exit being a plaza one block wide at Fifth Street, between Harrison and Bryant. An "on" or eastbound one-way ramp curves up from Fremont and Harrison Streets. An "Off" or westbound one-way ramp curves down to First and Clementina Streets. Trucks enter and leave the lower deck at Essex and Harrison. In addition, an elevated railway will loop down to a terminal one story above ground on Mission, between First and Fremont Streets.

West Bay Crossing

The two-mile bridge between San Francisco and Yerba Buena Island is termed the west bay section of the bridge and is 10,450 feet long. It consists of twin suspension bridges joined in the center to a common central anchorage of concrete 508 feet high from bedrock to its top, 281 feet of which is above water. Each "twin" consists of two side spans, each 1160 feet in length, and a main span of 2310 feet. Two cables, each  $28\frac{3}{4}$  inches in diameter, consisting of 17,464 parallel, pencil-size wires hung over 470-foot and 515 foot steel towers, support the bridge.

These cables are attached to huge steel eye-bars that are anchored in 68,000 cubic yards of reinforced concrete weighing 136,000 tons at the west end (San Francisco), and in the 165,000-cubic-yard center anchorage in midbay. At the east end (Yerba Buena Island), the two cables are attached to steel eye-bars buried in 160-foot tunnels. Each cable exerts a pull of 40,000,000 pounds average live and dead load on the tunnel anchorage, and the same pull is exerted on the San Francisco anchorage.

The island section of the bridge is 2950 feet long and has a 2-degree 52-minute curve to the southward. Of this 2950 feet, 321 feet is the west approach to the tunnel, 540 feet is inside the tunnel, 803 feet is the east portal approach, and four truss spans ranging from 271 feet to 298 feet long account for the remaining distance. This brings the bridge to the end of the west anchor arm of the cantilever span at the western end of the East Bay crossing.

Substructure—Under Water

The foundation, or submarine work, on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge is the greatest under-water engineering job ever undertaken. It was completed in the early part of 1935, after 18 months of dangerous work in which 12 men lost their lives. Of the 51 piers beneath this bridge, the smallest is a concrete block 44 feet wide, 108 feet long, 45 feet high (or deep), and resting on the embedded heads of 300 fir piles 100 feet long—their tips being 145 feet under water. This pier may be compared to an ordinary three-story and mezzanine building resting on piles 100 feet high.

The largest pier (although not the deepest) is the under-water portion of the center anchorage midway between San Francisco and the island. It is 92 feet wide, 197 feet long and 220 feet from bedrock beneath the floor of the bay to the water's surface. It is a cellular concrete block with 43 holes or cylindrical shafts, each 15 feet in diameter, that run vertically from the water line down to within 30 feet of bedrock. The 30 feet at the bottom is solid concrete, sealed to rock, which makes the pier like a weighted smoker's stand, heavy at the bottom so that it cannot be pushed over.

The west bay piers rest on a ridge of rock which rises above the other rock under the bay. This ridge dictated the route of the bridge. The east bay piers rest on a sandy clay "hardpan"; bedrock being as deep as 500 feet, which is beyond practical working depth.

The deepest pier in the world prior to this bridge job was under a bridge across the Atchafalaya River in Louisiana which registered 176.5 feet. Six piers, from 180 to 235 feet in depth, beneath the Bay Bridge exceed the Louisiana pier.

The diver went down the tubes 242 feet. He walked around under the huge caisson, directing the cleaning out of mud so that a solid concrete floor could be poured over bedrock far below the mud bottom of the bay. After each dive the diver was kept in a decompression chamber for several hours under slowly diminishing air pressure to prevent the deadly caisson disease known as "the bends."

He came through the unusual job with no injuries, although a too rapid ascent cost him an eye on a previous job. This diver was paid $15,000 a year and $1 a foot for each dive deeper than 100 feet.

Into this substructure of 51 units, went nearly 1,000,000 cubic yards of concrete, enough to build a solid mile of 30-story buildings, each 200 feet deep. This amount of concrete would rebuild the downtown section of San Francisco. The substructure was completed early in 1935. Its cost was more than $12,000,000, without interest and fixed charges. Only one construction peril was encountered—when Pier W-6, nearest the island in the west bay, tipped 8 feet lower on the east side at the time it was 135 feet deep with but 30 feet embedded in mud, and in 105 feet of water. It required one month of effort to right this caisson.

The $22,530,000 contract for the steel superstructure of the bridge was secured. This is the largest single steel order ever placed. It involves nearly 200,000 tons of steel. Of this total, 152,000 tons are fabricated steel and 18,500 tons are cable wire.

Suspension Towers

In the two suspension bridges of the west bay crossing, there are four towers over which the two cables are suspended. These towers must be strong enough to not only hold up the cables, each of which weighs 2000 pounds to the foot, but all the rest of the dead and live loads which will hang from the cables, an additional 17,000 pounds—a total average load of 21,000 pounds to the lineal foot of the spans.

At the base the legs of the towers are 66 feet apart, inside width—the outside width is 109 feet which is wider than San Francisco's Market Street, or downtown Broadway in New York, curb to curb. These immense legs each rest upon a steel base plate five inches thick, which is secured by 28 bolts, each 3½ inches in diameter, anchored in the concrete pier, except on Pier W.1, where, due to unusual bending stresses, 40 bolts hold down each leg.

Tower Movement

The sun shining on the towers bends them slightly. In the morning the sun shining on the east face of the towers expands the riveted plates and the towers bend to the west as much as three inches. In the afternoon the sun shining on the west face heats the plates on this side, expanding them, while the cooling east face plates contract, and the towers bend to the east as much as seven inches. It was necessary to calculate this bending in order to measure, to a fraction, the correct length of the guide wires for the cables as they were spun.

In these anchorages are embedded huge steel bars with eyelets in the ends, to which the suspension cables are attached. Between the anchorages, and over the saddles set on the tops of the towers, are strung thousands of parallel wires forming two cables, each the diameter of a barrel. Each wire used in these cables has a tensile strength of 235,000 pounds per square inch.

The cables weigh, when completed, approximately one ton to the foot, and are entirely too heavy to be transported in their built-up state, so they are spun on the job from single wires. If clothes lines were hung by laying thousands of double threads parallel from one hook to another and over props, the cable spinning process would almost be duplicated.

Cast-steel cable bands are bolted around the cables every 30 feet, and over these are hung 2¼-inch wire suspender ropes. To these suspender ropes are attached the stiffening truss spans, which form the two decks over which traffic will flow.

The cantilever bridge over the Oakland channel just east of Yerba Buena Island with its 1400-foot span and its 510-foot anchor arms is the highest, longest and heaviest in the United States and is the highest and the third longest and heaviest in the world. Its span is only exceeded in length by the Quebec, 1800 feet; and the Firth of Forth, 1710 feet.

Although it is not commonly known, steel is an elastic substance and all steel bridges have provisions for expansion and contraction. Steel expands under increased temperature and, not unlike rubber under increased pull. Sixteen expansion joints, or breaks, in the San Francisco-Oakland Bridge are provided.

Paving - Bridge Railway - Financial Set-up

The 31 feet of truck roadway of the lower deck is being paved with standard Portland cement concrete 6½ inches thick and reinforced with welded trusses of steel embedded in the concrete.

The 58 feet of upper deck roadway is being paved with a Portland cement concrete containing light weight aggregate, or "rock that floats." This baked clay product is mixed with the cement to produce paving one-third the weight of standard concrete. Without this light weight aggregate, it would have been necessary either to pave the bridge deck with lumber or to put additional steel into its design.

A modern two-track interurban railway on the lower deck of the bridge will connect with the existing East Bay transportation lines. A loop with a passenger terminal on Mission at First Street will soon be constructed. The key System and Interurban Electric Co., a Southern Pacific Company subsidiary, have contracted to lease the railway and pay tolls. These companies will then abandon their passenger ferry services. Completion of the bridge railway is unscheduled, but is expected early in 1938.

The State of California in 1931 established by law the California Toll Bridge Authority, with power to buy or build bridges and borrow money against their prospective tolls. The tolls of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge will be impounded for bond redemption and interest until the bridge is out of debt, when the law states it must become free to the people. The present California Toll Bridge Authority sold $56,000,000 worth of bonds to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, of which Jesse H. Jones is chairman, to build the bridge proper. The RFC has obligated itself to buy $15,000,000 more to finance the electric railway system over the bridge, which will connect the transportation systems of the two communities. In addition, the State of California has loaned $6,600,000 from the Northern California gasoline tax allotment to build the approaches to the bridge. The total cost is thus $77,600,000. Toll approximating those now charged on the ferries, will be collected by the bridge until its debt is paid off. It is estimated that the bridge will be free within 20 years.

The bridge is built by private contract under the direction of State Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly and Chief Engineer C. H. Purcell, State Highway Engineer in California. The bridge will be a primary state highway when completed, and will be maintained by the Division of Highways from gasoline tax revenues.

The San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, without approaches, is nearly three times as long as the present longest bridge in the world, the Firth of Forth Bridge in Scotland.

It spans the largest navigable body of water yet spanned, and authorities state that no larger body of water exists in the world where the traffic would, in 1000 years, justify a greater bridge.

Its cost, $77,600,000, is the world's greatest bridge investment, exceeding that of the George Washington Bridge, upon which $60,000,000 was expended.

The Yerba Buena Island Tunnel, 65 feet wide by 52 feet high, through which a four-story building could be towed upright, is the largest diameter bore in the world.

Its deepest pier has an average depth of 235 feet and one low spot rests at 242 feet below low tide. Such piers are as tall as 16-story office buildings, and contain more concrete.

The fabricated steel content of the bridge equal 18.3 per cent of all the steel fabricated in the United States during 1933.

The 70,815 miles of cable wire alone are sufficient to encircle the Earth nearly three times.

The 1,000,000 cubic yards of concrete and reinforcing steel would rebuild downtown San Francisco.

The center anchorage, with a concrete content of 165,000 cubic yards, required more than six times the concrete used in the 33-story Russ Building, San Francisco, and more concrete than that in the Empire State Building, New York.

The timber used in the Bay bridge, largely an auxiliary or false-work structures, totaled 30,000,000 board feet, and would build 3000 five-room lumber dwellings or enough houses for an average town of 15,000 population.

The concrete and steel in the bridge is sufficient to build 35 Russ Buildings, San Francisco, 35 City Halls, Los Angeles, or 35 L. C. Smith Buildings, Seattle.

The insurance risk undertaken on the bridge was full coverage on $33,000,000.

The bridge was declared by President Roosevelt to be the largest single construction job to be started in 1933.

An average of 6500 men were employed in building the bridge. Man hours required were 54,850,000.

Construction started July 9, 1933, opening of the bridge to highway traffic on November 12, 1936.

THE SYRIAN PEOPLE

In the United States As A Cornerstone

IN AMERICAN LIFE

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

by

ABRAHAM M. MALOUF

Presiding Chairman of the First Organization Meeting of Western Federation of Syrian-American Societies

IN THE STATES OF

CALIFORNIA - OREGON - WASHINGTON - MONTANA - IDAHO - NEVADA
UTAH - WYOMING - COLORADO - ARIZONA - NEW MEXICO

WESTERN FEDERATION OF SYRIAN-AMERICAN SOCIETIES

224 East Eleventh Street

Los Angeles, Calif.

The Syrians in the United States are known as the people who immigrated to this country from Syria, a land situated in the Near East; bounded by Mesopotamia on the North, Egypt on the South, the Arabian desert on the East, and the Mediterranean on the West.

In its climate and physiographic formation it is almost the picture of the State of California; ocean on the west, mountains on the east, cold weather on the north, and tropical climate on the south; similar also in its agricultural products and climatic conditions.

Since the World War, Syria has been divided into several provinces, but this did not affect the Syrians in the United States. They are known as Syrians, regardless of what province they belonged to, and regardless of whether they are Christians, Mohammedans, or Jews. In the United States they are recognized as Syrians, and likewise they recognize one another, whether as individuals, or societies. So, when we say Syrian, we mean every person who came from Syria, as herein geographically outlined, or born in the United States of Syrian parentage.

The first group of Syrians came to the United States, as near as it is known, about 1880, less than 54 years ago. In 1900 there were about 100,000 Syrians in the United States, and up until 1914 when immigration was restricted, we had about 750,000 of whom there should have been at least 250,000 eligible voters. They consisted of 80 per cent Christians, 10 per cent Jews, and 10 per cent Mohammedans.

Commerce

The Syrian people are naturally inclined toward business and adventure. They spread out throughout the United States, covering every state, city and village and business center. Through their traditional spirit of perseverance, and endeavor, they constantly and steadfastly gained a commercial position, probably not attained by any other nationality—if number and time is considered.

Among them rose many firms into the millionaire class. Large institutions were organized that practically controlled the art linen, hand-made laces, and embroideries, not only in the United States, but all over the world.

In the manufacture and textile industries, they organized institutions that are among the largest, if not the largest, of their kind in this country.

In agriculture, many of them are considered among the largest growers; thousands of carloads of their products are shipped to the big cities of the country.

Education

In education, it is a hereditary trait of the Syrians to everlastingly strive and acquire knowledge and dispense it for the benefit of humanity. In many of the highest educational institutions in the United States, we find Syrian professors given the responsibility of teaching the profound science, and some of our university graduates, having received their final diplomas, still seeking further knowledge in the higher realms of science and philosophy, we find them as post-graduates under the leadership of a Syrian professor. In the colleges, high schools, and grammar schools, we find that a great many Syrian young men and young women are engaged as teachers and professors. In subjects so vital to the life of this nation, several Syrian youths as students in high schools, colleges and universities, through their eloquence and elegant oratory combined with logic and reasoning, won in many national debates the highest honor awards.

The Syrian pupils in the schools are noted for their quick and alert ability to learn, especially in mathematics, which is a sign of hereditary intellect. They are always proud of the fact that their Arabic mathematical system is universally adopted, and in fact it is the only mathematical system used by modern nations, in all modern languages.

Medicine

In the field of medicine, many Syrians have become doctors, internationally famous for their achievement in the world of medicine, always proud of the fact that the first text books on medicine in the world, were compiled by their ancestors.

Law

In the judicial line we find many eminent Syrian attorneys among the leading lawyers in the defense of justice. Many are judges administering the law with integrity, some are senators in legislatures, formulating the laws of the land.

Astronomy

In astronomy, we find Syrian professors as honorary members of astronomical societies throughout the world. They are always proud when they find that the scientists in this modern age still use the instruments to measure the size and distance of the stars that were conceived and used centuries ago by their Syrian predecessors.

Literature

In literature, the Syrians in the United States broke records of all times, anywhere. Books of philosophy and psychology, written by their men were, within two years, translated into thirty-two different languages; the only record of its kind in the world.

Many daily papers, weekly magazines, and periodicals are published. Many of them are published in English, and several are printed in the Arabic language, which is famous for its literature and refinement, and its magnificent poetry that inspires the human mind to the highest sphere of imagination, pouring courage, faith and self-reliance into the heart of the adventurous youth, and adding wisdom and intelligence into the matured mind.

Construction and Architecture

In the construction and building trades, Syrian architects, engineers, and construction firms, have to their credit many magnificent public and private buildings, bridges, national highways, etc., that stand as a monument to their skill and ingenuity in the art of architecture.

Arts and Music

In art and music, the Syrian artists hold their own among the best. Their paintings decorate some of the finest halls of art; their music, with its pleasing and aristocratic rhythm blending the oriental with occidental classic, created a new melody so admired by music lovers.

The Syrians in general, are not a clanish class. They assimilate with the rest of the citizens, and are members and officers of almost all the nationally known high order fraternities, reaching the highest office in the order.

Patriotism

The records of the United States Government at Washington, show that the Syrian people are the only nationality maintaining their own naturalization school and classes without governmental assistance. This statement was given to me personally while in conference with Mr. Nagel, Secretary of the Department of Labor in President Taft's Administration.

As citizens of the United States the Syrians are not only law abiding citizens, but active supporters and defenders of the law of the land; not only loyal but ready for the supreme sacrifice to defend their adopted country and protect its integrity, and its institutions.

During the last war, Syrian blood was shed in abundance under the Stars and Stripes. Many of our men who survived the ordeal, found that their sincere devotion, and heroic deeds, their gallantry, and personal intelligence lifted them into the ranks of high officers in the army, navy and aviation and medical corps, and government circles.

In the civic service throughout the United States, we find Syrians among the leaders of the major political parties where the destiny of the nation finds its conception. Many Syrians have been assigned to very responsible duties as members of commissions for the dispensation of millions of dollars from city, state, or national treasuries.

The Syrian people recognize and concede that the proverbial melting pot, generation after generation, will mold the citizens of all nationalities into one American unity, but they also realize that regardless of how hot the melting pot is, it will never be intense enough to annihilate the atoms of the blood, or to affect the language. During the era of this process the Syrians feel that, for the benefit of this nation, they should help by preserving their good culture and inoculate same into the veins of the American life, thus performing their obligation in joining all other loyal and sincere nationalities who brought to this nation, the best of their culture and made it what it is today.

Cradle of Civilization

The Syrian people have inherited, through the experience of centuries, a view of the trend and development of social and civic life which was enacted on the stage of Syria during the history of the human race.

Syria is the cradle of civilization. In its lap humanity was reared, and found its way throughout life, guided by Syrian men and women, who from age to age devised ways and means of seeing it safely through its growth and progress, with regulations that tends to make all people contented with life.

In the early stages of humanity, the Syrian reformers saw that humanity was suffering and trembling from the end of life, which is the fearful dark door of the grave and the frightful idea of being annihilated; it was revealed through these reformers and their ideals were pictured and so accepted by humanity that turned the fearful dark door of the grave into a glorious entrance to a brighter and happier life. Over 900,000,000 of the world's inhabitants accepted these ideals and are living happily and pass through life well contented and practically ignore the fear of death.

Ideals

These ideals whether they are Christian, Mohammedan or Jewish, were first revealed to the world through Syrian men and women, and they remain to be the greatest blessing that humanity ever acquired, not only spiritually, but nationally, commercially, socially, charitably, and economically, and run into every phase of the human life to make it happy and contented. In many instances, Syrian thinking men and women, through their ideals, have practically set the destiny of the human race.

After the age of primitive life, where every individual sought his own self-preservation, and after the age of semi-civilized era, when Syria for centuries was the battlefield of contending nations, and after the dust and smoke of the battles were cleared and the horror of war estimated, they learned a lesson that the rest of the world is still studying. The Syrian people realized that the greatest law of all times is "Do not harm your neighbor, he will not harm you." Both will live a happier life. The Biblical term is "Love thy neighbor as thyself" and "Do unto others as you want them to do unto you."

These principles made the Syrian people more law abiding and peaceful citizens, depending on and supporting the law and order which they cherish to protect them against aggressors.

Through centuries of experience, the Syrian people have conceived and absorbed into their social life the sacredness of the family ties. They adore the loyal wife and the honorable mother. This made the Syrian woman always jealous of her adorable moral status, and cling to these principles until they become instinctive in her life and a part of her existence. Whenever there is such honorable life in a family, we are sure to find the children growing to be manly men and womanly women, and in such a family we find the strong foundation of great nations, so the Syrian family life should be strongly emphasized and brought to light as a basic principle in the fundamental life of the American nations.

Hope, Faith and Self-Reliance

Mankind never reached its present standard of civilization without the vigorous men of adventure. The Syrian people from time immemorial, led the world in exploring.

This is instilled in them, even to the present generation; with courage and faith in their ability, they left their old homes and established themselves in a country strange to them, struggled and endured hardships and overcame difficulties until they reached the level which they now enjoy, thus adding to the life of this great nation a cornerstone of courage, hope, faith and self reliance.

In recent years the Syrians in the United States felt the necessity of organizing a social order whereby they can preserve whatever good culture they possess and be united to offer any service they can, feeling that it is their duty and obligation to their country to do their part in whatever capacity they can, in the service of the community, the state and the nation.

Through their hundreds of civic organizations throughout the United States, they have organized district federations, composed of Syrian Societies and organizations in several states. The Eastern Federation includes the New England states, the Southern Federation includes all southern states, the Midwestern Federation includes all central states, and the Western Federation includes all states on the Pacific Coast and the Rocky Mountains, and contemplating a National Federation whose members will be the various district federations.

National Service

The ultimate purpose is to offer a practical service for this nation by helping and encouraging its constitutional government, and to preserve the ideals and principles of the Syrian good culture and to leave to our posterity a form of unity, which in future generations as well as for this generation, will be the means of continuous acquaintances, comradeship, and unity which will uphold our social, civic, professional and commercial position in the life of this nation.

It is expected that the Federation will send representatives to meet with the civic and patriotic organizations of the country and report to the Syrian people all important activities advocated by such organization, likewise to introduce to such organization any ideals which the Federation may think to be for the betterment of the nation.

Let us hope that these Federations will remain to express the united sentiment of the Syrian people, and to perpetuate in the minds of the Syrian youth, the importance of their hereditary and moral obligations, and make them always realize their stand and duties as good citizens, and as one corner stone, in the life of the American nation.

May the Syrians continue to be proud of their origin, live in harmony, prosper financially, advance civically, appreciate and be appreciated by the good citizens of the United States of America.

Governors' Tribute

At the second meeting for organizing the Western Federation of Syrian American Societies, a constitution was adopted, and officers were elected to manage the Federation until a general convention is in session which is expected to be held about the first week in September, 1937.

The officers are: A. M. Malouf, President; Dr. A. S. Abdun-Nur, Treasurer; and Sam S. Mamey, Secretary.

Mr. Malouf's Keynote Address was sent to all the governors of the various states. They were asked about their opinion of the Syrian people in their states. The following letters were received. They speak for themselves.

All these letters were addressed to Sam S. Mamey, Secretary of the Western Federation of Syrian American Societies, Los Angeles, California.

STATE OF NEW MEXICO—EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT—SANTA FE

Clyde Tingley, Governor

October 13, 1936.

Thank you for your kind letter enclosing a copy of the address of A. M. Malouf, president of the Western Federation of Syrian Americans. It is a splendid address and one that should be widely distributed, for it will do much to inspire the readers to better citizenship and to people in general it will bring a better understanding of the Syrian American people, their aims and ideals.

Here in New Mexico our Syrian Americans are hard working, high type citizens, many of them outstanding.

With best wishes for the success of the work of your Western Federation of Syrian American Societies, I am

Sincerely yours,

CLYDE TINGLEY

Governor of New Mexico.

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR—SPRINGFIELD

Henry Horner, Governor

December 10, 1936

I am glad to comply with your request:

In Illinois, our citizens of Syrian birth and descent rank among the talented of the State. They are peace loving and law abiding and have made decidedly worth while contributions to our State.

As the "Cradle of Civilization," Syria, all through the centuries has sent her sons and daughters to the four corners of the earth, where they became vital factors in the diffusion of education and the arts.

I extend a cordial greeting to the officers and members of the Western Federation of Syrian American Societies.

Sincerely yours,

Governor of Illinois.

HENRY HORNER

STATE OF MICHIGAN—Executive Office—LANSING

Frank D. Fitzgerald, Governor

October 15, 1936

Allow me to congratulate you as Secretary and Mr. A. M. Malouf as President of the Western Federation of Syrian-American Societies on the good work which you are doing in calling the attention of your people to the advantages offered them in the New World and the part which they should play in maintaining this country.

America was not built in a day, neither was its social or economic fabric woven from the inhabitants of any one single country. Practically every nation of the world has made its contribution to either the woof or the warp of our national fabric.

During the last half century there has been coming from that little country east of the Mediterranean, men and women seeking the opportunities and advantages offered in a country whose national life is guided by a Representative Democracy. They have brought with them the industry and the culture of their nation.

The Syrians who live in Michigan are an industrious and law-abiding people. Their children are attending our public schools and eventually are taking their place by the side of descendants of people of other nations in our social and economic life and in the conduct of local, state and national government.

It is not strange that Syria, the cradle in which civilization was rocked for thousands of years before the Christian era, should make a contribution to both the cultural and economic life of the youngest and most progressive nation in the world.

Any effort on the part of the members of your society to call to the attention of your people the responsibilities and obligations to a country full of opportunities and advantages is a worth while endeavor. Be assured that every consideration will be extended to your people.

Very sincerely yours,

FRANK D. FITZGERALD

Governor of the State of Michigan.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT—AUSTIN, TEXAS

James V. Allred, Governor

October 15, 1936.

I am most happy to add my tribute as Governor of Texas to the Syrian people. Certainly the Syrians of Texas have contributed in a large measure to the forward march of the Lone Star State during its one hundred years of progress. Such a contribution has been made in every state of the Union by the Syrian people who have patriotically demonstrated their ability to advance the cause of good government.

With best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

JAMES V. ALLRED

Governor of the State of Texas.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE—STATE HOUSE—PHOENIX, ARIZONA

Benjamin B. Moeur, Governor

October 16, 1936

I welcome this opportunity to express my strong and sincere appreciation of the splendid work and high character of the Syrians residing in our state of Arizona. There is no better class of citizens. Crime is practically unknown among them: they are industrious; their ideals of patriotism and religion are the highest possible. I wish we had more such citizens.

No people have a more glorious history than the Syrians. They were in a high state of civilization and progress when Europe was barbarous. They were among the first to recognize and adhere to the Christian religion. They have kept their faith through the centuries, often in the face of bitter persecution.

The Syrians who have come to America and Arizona have brought with them the same high standards to which they clung in their homeland. They have shown their patriotism in every emergency our nation has faced.

In business and private life they have displayed the high moral and spiritual qualities most admired by all true Americans.

May I congratulate you and the members of your splendid Society.

Sincerely yours,

BENJAMIN B. MOEUR

Governor of the State of Arizona.

STATE OF NEVADA—EXECUTIVE CHAMBER—CARSON CITY

Richard Kirman, Governor

October 14, 1936

Your letter of September 21st, 1936, which reached this office on October 12th, 1936, enclosing a copy of an address by A. M. Malouf, President of the Western Federation of Syrian-American Societies, has been received and I have read it with very much interest.

The Syrian-American Societies in our own State of Nevada, as well as other states have done much good, and they should be commended upon the good and loyal work that they are doing, and I extend through yourself as Secretary of those Societies, my sincere good wishes for a continuation of the good and loyal work done by the Syrians.

Yours very truly,

RICHARD KIRMAN

Governor of the State of Nevada.

STATE OF MONTANA—OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR—HELENA

Elmer Holt, Governor

October 21, 1936

Let me thank you for your courtesy in sending me a copy of an address by Mr. A. M. Malouf, president of your Federation. I have read it with much interest and with some surprise, particularly when I learned that there are now in the United States perhaps a million Syrians. While the Syrian population of Montana is relatively small, my contacts with the representatives of this race has convinced me of their loyalty to the land of their adoption, of their industry and thrift, and their determination to do their share in building this country in accordance with the ideals of its founders.

Very truly yours,

ELMER HOLT

Governor of the State of Montana.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT—STATE OF SOUTH DAKOTA, PIERRE

Tom Berry, Governor

October 16, 1936.

I have your letter of September 21, 1936, in which you enclose a copy of an Address by Mr. Abraham M. Malouf, President of the Western Federation of Syrian-American Societies.

I have read Mr. Malouf's address with interest.

Replying to your letter of September 21st, it has been my privilege as Chief executive of Oklahoma to meet many members of the Syrian and American Societies. I am very glad to have the opportunity to pay a small tribute to their sterling worth as citizens of Oklahoma. They have done their part in helping the up-building of our state.

Sincerely yours,

E. W. MARLAND

Governor of the State of Oklahoma

STATE OF NEBRASKA—EXECUTIVE OFFICE—LINCOLN

R. L. Cochran, Governor

December 2, 1936

Nebraska does not have a large Syrian population. However, our Syrians have demonstrated their worth and do much in the furtherance of good citizenship in our commonwealth for industry, frugality, honesty of purpose and loyalty to their adopted country.

Their example has been worth while to Nebraska.

Very sincerely yours,

R. L. COCHRAN

Governor of Nebraska.

EXECUTIVE DEPT.—ATLANTA

Eugene Talmadge, Governor

December 2, 1936

Your letter has been received, and I am very glad to say that we have many splendid Syrian citizens in Georgia. They are patriotic, interested in all civic enterprises and progressive.

I find also that they are quiet, law-abiding, dependable, and we are glad to have them in our State.

With all good wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

EUGENE TALMADGE

Governor of Georgia.

STATE OF UTAH—OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR—SALT LAKE CITY

Henry H. Blood, Governor

November 30, 1936

Utah is proud of the fact that in this state occurred the first application of water to the land for irrigation purposes by the occidental race on this continent, but in the history of civilization, Utah is an infant indeed when compared with Syria, and the story of the art of irrigation dates back to Syrian antiquity.

Of one thing in modern times the citizens of the United States may well be proud: it is exemplified in the statue in New York Harbor which shows Liberty holding aloft her torch before the world.

It is true that wherever the human race has prospered and progressed, the love of liberty has inspired its leaders. That same love of liberty has brought many of the Syrian race to America. We of other races which go to make up the citizenry of the United States invite your cooperation in keeping the Torch of Liberty burning.

Sincerely yours,

HENRY H. BLOOD

Governor of Utah.

STATE OF FLORIDA—EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT—TALLAHASSEE

David Sholtz, Governor

October 19, 1936.

Your letter inclosing copy of an address by A. M. Malouf, President of the Western Federation of Syrian-American Societies, has been received and read with interest.

The splendid accomplishments of the Syrians have not escaped the attention of our intelligent thinking people and we are proud of the contribution that they are making as American citizens in upholding our principles of government and in the various fields of industry and commerce. I number the Syrians of Florida among my friends and consider them upright, law-abiding citizens.

With very best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

DAVID SHOLTZ

Governor of the State of Florida.

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY—EXECUTIVE CHAMBER FRANKFORT

Albert Benjamin Chandler, Governor

December 2, 1936

It is a pleasure for me to felicitate the members of your race who have cast their lot with us here in the Commonwealth of Kentucky and indeed throughout the United States.

Many native Syrians have become prosperous and worthwhile citizens and have made valuable contributions to our civic advancement.

With cordial good wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

A. B. CHANDLER

Governor of Kentucky.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA—GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
HARRISBURG

George H. Earle, Governor

October 20, 1936

This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of September 21, 1936 with respect to a statement about the Syrians in our State. Your efforts in encouraging the contributions of the Syrian people in Pennsylvania and America are commendable. It is not forgotten that the greatness of this nation—this commonwealth included—was achieved in no small part by the amalgamation of the numerous national cultures represented in our heterogeneous population. The Syrian people have played a part of this process commensurate with their number of citizens.

Their participation in public affairs has been both wide and varied. Their excellence in linen and lacecraft, their part in developing the Arabic system of mathematics, and other achievements in science, arts, and commerce are tangible evidence of their industry and ingenuity; their acceptance of democratic principles of government, the naturalization schools which they support here, their defense of justice and law, and their readiness to serve the country in times of danger, testify to their loyalty and allegiance to America; and their love of peace, profound regard for family ties, and exemplification of the brotherhood of man are proof of their high spiritual character.

Since the coming of the first group of Syrians to our shores only a half century ago, their numbers have grown to three-quarters of a million. This great host of men and women characterized by industry, intelligence, loyalty to democratic principle, and high spiritual qualities inevitably makes an appreciable contribution to the general welfare of this Commonwealth and of the nation as well.

Very sincerely yours,
GEORGE H. EARLE
Governor of the State of Pennsylvania.

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA—OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
COLUMBIA

Olin D. Johnston, Governor

October 28, 1936

I read with consuming interest the keynote address of Mr. Abraham M. Malouf, a copy of which was sent to me.

This is an enlightening speech, and traces accurately the business, patriotic and literary careers of the Syrian People, since their first coming to the United States in 1880. Some of the most substantial citizens of our State are natives of the little Country of Syria, and these people have gained an enviable commercial and economic standing in South Carolina. Their ready grasp of the responsibilities of citizenship, and respect for law and order make them worthwhile inhabitants of any community.

I am pleased to write these truths of the Syrian people, many of whom are my friends, and with whom I have had the pleasure of associating very closely.

Sincerely yours,
OLIN D. JOHNSTON
Governor of South Carolina.

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI—EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT—JACKSON

Hugh White, Governor

October 19, 1936.

Acknowledging your letter of September 21st.

I read, with interest, the address of Mr. A. M. Malouf, which you are reprinting for general distribution.

I want to take this means of commending your organization for the fine work it is doing, and to say a word about those of Syrian Extraction, who are doing their best to help make Mississippi a great State.

Yours very truly,
HUGH WHITE
Governor of the State of Mississippi.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY—EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

Harold G. Hoffman, Governor

October 14, 1936.

I am pleased to acknowledge your letter in reference to the activities of the Western Federation of Syrian-American Societies.

The ancient Fertile Crescent of the Tigris and the Euphrates saw the first civilization. The Syrian ports saw the first commerce. The Syrian people have had the longest experience with civilized living that any race has enjoyed.

It is an inspiration to find that so many Syrians have found in our United States institutions and principles which appeal more strongly to them than the institutions of any other country. The traditions and experience of Syrians are a valued contribution to the recipe and the ingredients from which the future America will be made.

Sincerely,
HAROLD G. HOFFMAN
Governor of the State of New Jersey.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE—CONCORD—EXECUTIVE CHAMBER

H. Styles Bridges, Governor

October 21, 1936.

Thank you for sending me a copy of the keynote address by Abraham M. Malouf as presiding chairman of the organization meeting of the Western Federation of Syrian-American Societies.

I have read with interest Mr. Malouf's eloquent exposition of the part taken by Syrians in the history of the world, including America, and I find myself in appreciative sympathy with his plea for the organized participation of the Syrians in all the activities of our Nation, in which they already are so well represented as individuals.

Sincerely yours,
H. STYLES BRIDGES
Governor of the State of New Hampshire.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA—GOVERNOR'S OFFICE—SACRAMENTO

Frank F. Merriam, Governor

October 16, 1936.

In response to your letter of September 21 may I express my appreciation of the accomplishments of the Syrians in the United States as outlined in the keynote address by Mr. Abraham M. Malouf.

Throughout the years your people have responded to the high ideals of individual and social justice. They have always cooperated in movements planned for the benefit of mankind.

May I extend greetings and good wishes to the members of the Western Federation of Syrian-American Societies.

Very sincerely yours,
FRANK F. MERRIAM
Governor of the State of California.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT—ANNAPOLIS, MARYLAND

Harry W. Nice, Governor

October 22, 1936.

I have your favor of September 21st, enclosing copy of an address by Mr. Abraham M. Malouf, dealing with the Syrian people living in the United States and their contribution to the civic betterment of America.

While but few of the Syrian people are domiciled in my State, yet those few are representative citizens of this community, and contribute in no small measure to the business industrial and civic welfare of Maryland. As was said by Mr. Malouf, the dominant characteristic of these people is perseverance, and we in Maryland are very proud of the few who have honored us by taking up their residence in our midst.

I find that they are observant of the laws, and true to the spirit of liberty, which they are helping to make each day more manifest throughout this great Republic. Should I attempt to write a treatise, I could not better express my thoughts, than in the simple statement, that Maryland is proud of its Syrian citizens.

Very truly yours,
HARRY W. NICE
Governor of the State of Maryland.

STATE OF INDIANA—EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT—INDIANAPOLIS

Paul V. McNutt, Governor

October 19, 1936.

I wish to acknowledge and to thank you for your cordial letter of September 21, together with a copy of an address by Mr. A. M. Malouf, President of the Western Federation of Syrian-American Societies.

I am grateful to you for forwarding the very interesting story of the splendid accomplishments of your people in this country. They are worthy of the highest praise.

With kindest regards, I am

Cordially yours,
PAUL V. McNUTT
Governor of the State of Indiana.

To the Syrian Youth in the United States

I salute you with all due respect for the good that you have accomplished. I respect and admire you because you deserve the utmost of respect, I have faith in you because you have faith in yourself.

In my keynote speech, I painted for you a picture of the achievements of your forefathers who despite great handicaps, have nevertheless resourcefully and intelligently and with undiminished spirit, will power, and self-reliance, made a brilliant mark in the history of the United States, as their ancestors made the largest mark in the history of civilization.

The activities of your forefathers have been highly commended by nearly all the leading officials of the nation.

This record is a treasure that will be perpetually maintained only by your own action, by following in the footsteps of your forefathers and by remaining a factor in up-building the future of the nation, and by maintaining your life with self-respect and remain courageous, honest, reliable, and honorable men and women in your own enterprises, and as citizens of the United States.

Your fathers had the privilege of becoming American Citizens, to you citizenship is a heredity which you should cherish and protect.

May the Syrian youth of every generation be proud of the honorable activities of their fathers.

Sincerely yours,
A. M. MALOUF,
Pres. of Western Federation of Syrian American Societies.

WAR IS STILL HELL

Italy, rushing lightly into a war of conquest that may mean a new world conflagration, might profitably pause an hour over the cost sheets of the last one.

The cost of the World War of all belligerents was $186,000,000,000. The depression the past five years was just a big shell hole.

The World War cost the lives of 7,449,087 men in the field, including those who died of wounds and disease behind the lines. Russia was the greatest loser, with 2,762,064; Germany was next with 2,050,466; France, 1,427,000; Austria-Hungary, 1,200,000; Britain, 1,098,919; Italy, 507,160; the United States, 107,284. There is no decrease in the number of British dead still being found on the battlefields of France: last year 1246 more skeletons were found, an increase of 16 over 1933.

The number of wounded is estimated at 20,000,000; war widows at 9,000,000; war orphans, 5,000,000. France alone had 740,000 war cripples. A Swedish investigator credits the war with 40,000,000 victims altogether.

Yet the world is now spending on armament $5,000,000,000 annually, an increase of about 70 per cent over that before 1914. Today there are nearly 5,500,000 men actively under arms and 20,000,000 more in reserves.

SHOOTER OF FIRST WAR SHOT FETED

London—Major Mihaljo Milojkovich, who fired the first shot in the World War has traveled from Belgrade, Yugoslavia, to London at the head of a party of 60 Serbian wartime veterans. They are the guests of former British comrades who fought on the Salonika and Balkan fronts.

Every man in the party holds the Yugoslav equivalent to the Victoria Cross. Major Milojkovich fired the first shot in the war in July, 1914, during the first night's operations against a reconnoitering party of Hungarians, who were the spearhead of the Austrian attack on Belgrade. Major Milojkovich was awarded the Serbian equivalent of the V. C. for heroism in this historic battle. The veterans were greeted enthusiastically in London.

MEAL MUST HAVE BEEN BIGGER THAN MAN WHO ATE IT

(By International News Service)

Crompton, R. I.—At 160 pounds, Joe Piaszczy, 20 of Centerville, is Rhode Island's heavy eating champion with no challengers at any weight.

Al Trayner, sports enthusiast, invited Joe to stage an exhibition at a local restaurant by offering to pay for all he ate.

Here is what he ate:

Eight hamburg sandwiches;

Two ham sandwiches;

Two pigs feet;

Forty cheese and peanut-butter cracker sandwiches;

Six bags of potato chips;

A bag of salted peanuts;

A bag of pistachio nuts;

Nine raw eggs;

Eight bottles of beer;

Six bottles of ginger ale;

Three bottles of orangeade. It all went down in one hour and 15 minutes.

SEVENTH HUSBAND DIVORCED, SHE IS READY FOR EIGHTH

Seattle, Wash.—Mrs. Caroline M. Owen, a pretty brunette, admitted she was willing to try marriage again in spite of her doubt that the right man has been born.

A Superior Court freed her from Lester Wallace Owen, her seventh husband.

Her varied marital troubles she classified as follows: No. 1, too old; No. 2, jealous; No. 3, indifferent; No. 4, too short an acquaintance; No. 5, incompatible; No. 6, annulled; No. 7, rough treatment. Let us hope No. 8 will fill the bill.

Mark of Progress . . .

With your co-operation, "The Pacific Syrian-American Guide" of the Western States continues on an upward trend. Year by year more states have been added until now we are proud to be of service to many thousands of families throughout the United States.

Each year new editorials will appear; subjects of public interest.

We, in addition to our regular five states, have included New Mexico, Texas and Vancouver, to complete listings along with California, Arizona, Oregon, Washington and Nevada. We appreciate your continued cooperation, which makes this work possible.

Most sincerely,

REV. FR. METHODIOS SHALHOOB,
Archmissionary Priest, Western States.
